

Cisco announces the expansion of the Cisco Collaboration certification portfolio and retirement of Cisco Voice and Cisco Video certifications.

Cisco CCNA Collaboration and CCNP Collaboration Certifications

Effective February 17, 2015, Learning@Cisco is proud to announce the expansion of the Cisco Collaboration certification portfolio to include an Associate-level and Professional-level certification. The portfolio now offers a complete career path for voice and video network engineers who want to develop, advance, and assess their expertise as the need for skilled collaboration professionals who can maximize the value of business investments continues to grow. To address the convergence of voice and video job roles and build collaboration knowledge and skills, the new certifications and supporting curricula focus on the following:

- Planning and designing collaboration and video networks using Cisco Collaboration solutions
- Implementing basic configurations of Cisco Collaboration solutions
- Maintaining and optimizing collaboration solutions

The CCNA Collaboration training courses and exams represent the merging of the current CCNA Voice and CCNA Video curricula. Major updates have been made to reflect the integration of new technologies. The CCNA Collaboration Convergence Document highlights the major updates to domain topics, both hardware and software, which have been made to the following curricula:

- ICOMM curriculum, which has been updated and is included in the new CICD course and exam
- VIVND curriculum, which has been updated and is included in the new CIVND courses and exam
